ALLIES FALL BACK IN ARCHANGEL SECTOR

American Losses Reported to Have Been Light

Severity of Punishment For War Offenders is Abated

Will be Left Hereafter to the Civil Court Procedure

General March States Abundant Reinforcements Are at Hand

(By Associated Press)

Washington, January 25.—Retirement of the allied forces holding advance positions in the Archangel sector before attacks by superior forces of Bolsheviks is reported in an official dispatch dated January 23, the substance of which was made public today by General March.

The points attacked by the enemy lay generally about 190 miles from Archangel. General March said the inter-allied commander there had adequate troops to reinforce the advanced elements and to handle the situation.

AMERICAN LOSS

The message reported the American losses in one of the actions at Ust Pedenga as ten enlisted men killed, 17 wounded and 11 missing. A later dispatch said subsequent attacks were repulsed when delivered on the positions taken up by the American forces.

An interallied force engaged at Shekurst consisted of a British detachment, two companies of Americans and two companies of Russians. These were attacked on three sides and evacuated their positions as were also the allied patrols at Ust Pedenga.

The American troops, falling back, took a position midway between this point and Shenkursk. In one of the attacks 1,000 enemy troops were in action against the small allied force.

COUNCIL CONTROLS

General March pointed out again that the whole military situation at Archangel was under the control of the interallied high command in France. He intimated that should reinforcements be deemed necessary any action to supply them would come from the high command and after recommendation of the British commander-in-chief in Siberia.

WAR OFFENDERS

General March announced that punishment of war-time severity for military offenders in the United States had been stopped. From now on military offenses at home will be punished in accordance with an order issued by the president before the war which set out the maximum sentences which would be approved for military offenders in peace time.

The new order does not apply to troops in France, Siberia or Italy and does not mean commutation of sentences imposed at home.

General March said that men discharged from the army will be permitted to retain the divisional insignia which they wore while in service. A recent order prescribed the wearing of the insignia would be permitted until discharge.

So far as the men remaining in the army are concerned the regulations concerning uniforms will be maintained and they do not permit soldiers to wear insignia of the divisions with which they formerly were connected.

GEORGE WILL OUTLINE PLAN OF BRITISH FOR LEAGUE

Prediction That President Wilson Would Leave Opening of Discussion to European Statesmen Fulfilled

(By Associated Press)

Paris, January 25.—David Lloyd George at the second open session of the peace conference today was expected to discuss the British plan for a league of nations, the outlines of which were published in the United States for the first time today, thereby fulfilling predictions that President Wilson would leave to one of the European statesmen the opening of the subject, withholding the exposition of his own views for the future.

To have an outline laid down by Premier Lloyd George is recognized as a most agreeable starting point from which the American delegates hope to develop a definite foundation of general principles which may be completed before the president leaves for the United States.

The warning issued yesterday by the supreme council that territorial claims must come before the conference unmarked by attempts at possession by force is very widely discussed here.

It seems to be generally acknowledged that President Wilson was the author of the warning and that he has a deep feeling in the matter because in at least one instance where small bodies of American troops were under other command they were used to push forward into a territory where the native population would not have tolerated the force of any European power but hailed the coming of the Americans with joy.

In some of these cases after the welcome had died down the population awoke to find that the American troops had departed and that their towns were in the possession of troops of another nationality.

The President, it is known, took summary action to prevent the use of American forces for such purposes.

He now has secured an agreement in the peace conference to warn all nations against such a step.

LOOTING PETROGRAD

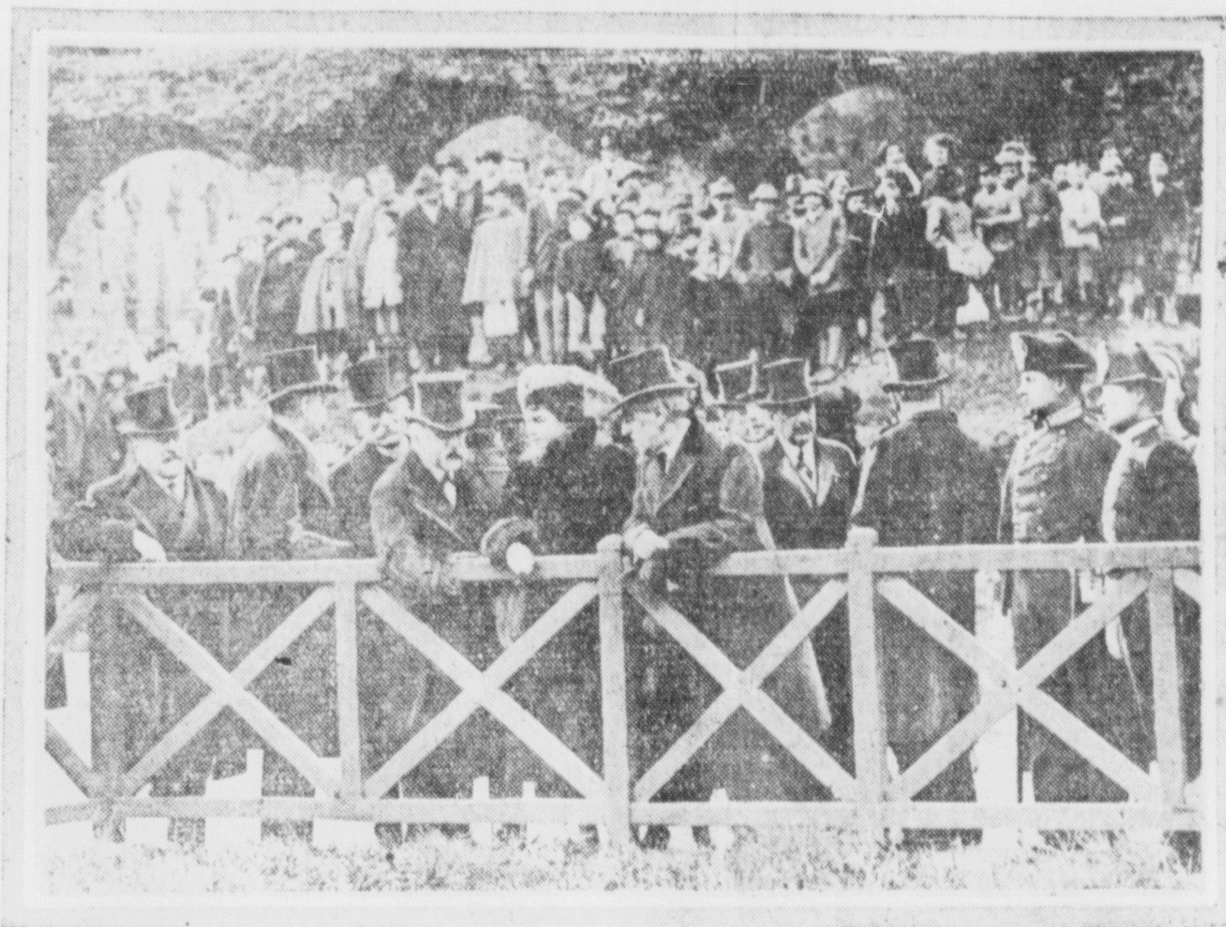

(By Associated Press)

Helsingfors, January 25.—Petrograd is being left to the mercy of gangs of robbers formed of escaped criminals, who are dividing the town into districts for looting purposes, according to the newspaper Russky Listok. It reiterates the report that the Bolsheviks are making hurried preparations for the evacuation of Petrograd, with the intention of moving either to Moscow or Nizhni-Novgorod.

The greater proportion of the persons now interned in Petrograd will be executed, it is predicted, and their women and children left to shift for themselves.

All the valuables in private houses, bank vaults and museums will be removed from the city.

MORE AMERICANS THAN BRITISH ON WEST FRONT WHEN ARMISTICE SIGNED

United States Troops Second Only to Those of France When Hostilities Ceased

(By Associated Press)

Washington, January 25.—On the day the armistice was signed the American army on the western front was second in strength only to that of France itself. Figures made public today by General March showed that on November 11th the United States was represented on the western front by 1,950,000 men.

France on November 1 the last date for which official figures were available, had 2,559,000.

The British and Portuguese attached to the British army totaled 1,718,000 while the Belgian and Italian forces on the western front aggregated about 200,000.

These totals are all based upon what is termed the "ration strength." It includes every soldier who has to be fed, both combatant and the necessary medical and supply organization.

The Old Reliable

Formal launching of the Fayette County Farm Bureau occurred at a meeting of farmers held at Memorial Hall, Friday afternoon, which lasted from near one o'clock until five o'clock in which virtually all sections of the county were represented.

Mr. Chas. McCoy was made temporary chairman, and the Farm Bureau plan was outlined by G. L. Goolley, president of the Cayahoga County Farm Bureau and government representative, and Mr. O. M. Johnson, of the Agricultural Extension Department of the Ohio State University. These men answered numerous questions and offered many valuable suggestions during the course of the meeting.

A constitution and by-laws, very similar to that of the 77 other counties in Ohio which have organized Farm Bureaus, was presented and after few amendments, was adopted. It was decided by a substantial majority vote that the membership should be limited strictly to farm owners, farm operators and farm laborers. This action was done after considerable argument during which it was declared by some that if more than farmers were permitted to membership they might dominate the organization, although this idea was scouted by some speakers, who declared that all members possible should be enrolled and if necessary a membership committee could be provided so that persons really not desired as members could be eliminated by the committee.

So far well upward of 300 farmers have enrolled in the organization. It was announced, and the executive committee in each township will appoint committees to push the work of enrolling the farmers until 1,000 to 1,500 have been enrolled. The yearly membership fee is fixed at $1 in order to meet expenses.

Executive committees were appointed as follows: Madison township, Frank P. Dorn; Paint township, M. L. Diekey; Union, Frank E. Haines; Wayne, Frank Rothrock; Concord, W. A. Hoppes; Jefferson, J. S. Booco; Marion, Ed Gerhart; Greer, Chester Zimmerman; Perry, William DeWitt; Jasper, not selected.

The officers of the Bureau were elected as follows: President, Chas. C. McCoy; vice-president, A. S. Booco; secretary, L. H. Goddard; treasurer, Chas. Allen.

The next meeting will be held at one o'clock, at the Memorial Hall Saturday afternoon, February 1st. In the meantime it is expected the several hundreds of farmers will be added to the present enrollment, and that they will be considered charter members.

It is believed by many that the Fayette County Farm Bureau marks a new epoch in farm life in Fayette county, and that the results of such an organization will be far-reaching and of inestimable benefit to the farmers generally, inasmuch as the county organization will be part of state and national organization of farmers.

The officers and executive committee were named to go to the Farm Bureau meeting at Columbus on January 27th and 28th, when important action is anticipated.

YOUNG FRIENDS BEAR LITTLE LAD TO RESTING PLACE

Sorrowfully and in large number friends of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Jamison and their family gathered at the home on North Main street Friday afternoon for the funeral services of the seven year old son, Lewis. Old and young wept in sympathy and found it hard to believe that the little lad, a favorite with his schoolmates assembled around his bier, and known and loved in all the homes where little, active feet often carried him, had passed on—transplanted to God's garden. In his little white suit, all sign of suffering wiped from his face by the loving heavenly Father, he seemed asleep, in a wonderful bower of floral bloom—the tribute of affection from friends galore, and over him a beautiful floral blanket placed by his parents, sister and brother.

Most fitting and affecting was the reading of the opening hymn "There's a Friend for Little Children Above the Bright Blue Sky."

Rev. Arthur P. Cherrington of the Grace M. E. Church, conducted the services with unusual tenderness and supplemented the reading of the memoir, written by Hon. C. A. Reid, with a short talk and an appreciation of his own. The minister spoke of the unusual bright and interesting little fellow as a "little farmer and a little stockman" already at the age of seven following in his father's wake; as a "little friend," knowing everybody and visiting old and young with undying energy, and as a "little soldier," bravely bearing long days of pain before his release.

Rev. Cherrington also read the hymn "I think when I read that sweet story of old"—the children's hymn.

Charged with pathos was the scene as four young boy friends, Oliver Miller, Ralph Taylor, Selby Gerstner and Donald Moots, bore out the little white casket, and friends in number accompanied the family to the Washington cemetery for the farewell services.

Among the beautiful floral remembrances sent in great number by relatives and friends there were special designs from Lewis' teachers, Misses Anna Bell and Emily Palmer and classmates; from the Baby Class of Grace M. E. Church; the North Main and Hinde street Group; the B. P. O. E.; the K. of P.; the Fayette Live stock Co.; Maddox and Cook.

Those who came from a distance were the grandfather, Mr. Z. C. Jamison of Leesburg, a brother, Mr. J. V. Jamison and family of Sabina, and Mrs. Lewis Chute, of Leesburg, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson of Greenfield, Mrs. Joe Zimmerman, Mrs. Grace Scott of Wilmington.

In Memory of Lewis Jamison
Lewis Jamison was born March 14, 1912, and died January 23, 1919, aged early 7 years.

He was the youngest child of Benjamin Flora Jamison, and this father and mother, and Frank and Ruth, his mother and sister compose the surviving members of a broken household whose hearts are burdened with life's greatest grief.

"Louie," as he was familiarly known, was not only the chief joy of his own home, but his active young life was ever teeming with childhood's rarest charms, that gave him easy access to the affections of all with whom he came in contact. He was a precocious lad, quick to perceive, observant of minutest detail, he possessed the traits of youthful quest, yet, his search for all the acts that boyhood's fancy might suggest, was so clothed in childhood's sweet spirit of gentleness, that no intrusion followed.

All who knew him loved the sunlight of his happy disposition. He easily found favor with old and young and many fond associations were formed by him with children of mature years.

Sorrow in an untimely death like his is not limited to the home that gave him unstinted love and devotion. He will be sadly missed by schoolmates, and in the Sabbath School, and many households where he was wont to go in childish glee with a message of good cheer.

He was a brave lad, and the fight he made against the affliction that caused his death was marked with patience and a manly bearing that inspired a spirit of admiration in those who kept the silent watch in his room at the hospital. All that science, skill, and loving ministrations could do, was insufficient to prevent this fatal result. It seemed God's will that he must go. It is hard to reconcile our hearts to the will of the Great Reaper when he gathers the fairest flowers that bloom among the golden grain. But—"Children are the hands by which we take hold of heaven. By these tendrils we clasp it and climb thitherward." So, the transplanting of this fair flower in heaven's garden should lift the sorrowing souls of loved ones, as they

THE RISING TIDE IN RELIGIOUS FEELING

A splendid congregation greeted Rev. Faulconer at the First Presbyterian church Friday night and the meeting pulsed with the rising tide of religious feeling. Rev. McWilliams conducted the opening devotional service and Miss Ada Woodward contributed a soprano solo of much beauty.

Rev. Faulconer's sermon was exceptionally strong—his theme "The Sure Foundation." The text "Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation; he that believeth shall not make haste."—Isaiah 28-16. The minister said in part: The foundation on which we are to build for eternity was laid by the hands of the Loving Father. He took into consideration the weight of all the trials and suffering and sins of all of his people in all the ages of the world and erected a foundation that was sufficient.

A Tried Stone—For six thousand years souls by the millions have passed to their reward. Christ the foundation stone has never failed once, and he never will.

A Precious Corner Stone—He is precious for three main reasons—for what he has done for us—in suffering for us—for what he is doing for us today in sympathy and intercession—for what he is going to do for us in the future in raising our bodies from the grave and presenting us spotless. He is a sure foundation. You may tremble, fear and doubt, yet he is firm and sure.

This foundation is sufficient for us at death, at the judgment, at all times, nothing can ever arise in the future—nothing that could crush the Savior of the Sinner.

"May we all rest with implicit faith upon Him," was the speaker's closing expression.

Sunday is expected to be the biggest day since the inauguration of the meetings.

At morning worship Dr. Faulconer will speak on "Drifting" and in the evening his subject will be "Regeneration."

During the session a unanimous vote of confidence in the trustees was given by the large number of members present.

The attractive new home, which will compare favorably with any home of its kind in this part of Ohio, if not surpass all others in beauty, will be erected on the Market street lot, which offers an ideal location for the structure.

Bolshevism Subsiding

The Bolshevik mania is showing marked signs of abating. Even in Russia the forces of law and sanity and humanity are everywhere inflicting decisive reverses upon the troops of the usurpers.

Even Sweden, the nation which, charitably inclined folks excuse on the ground of geographical location but which is always last to act decisively in a crisis, has served notice on the Bolshevik legation that it must quit the country.

Sweden's action is one of the most encouraging indications that the reign of terror is on the wane.

The coming of spring and good weather permitting troop movements in Russia will enable the allied and the associated nations to assist the Russian people in freeing themselves of the terror.

Those who confidently believe that a few months of campaigning next spring will see the utter and final rout of Bolshevism are by no means confined to the overly optimistic.

A Better World

Sometimes it is to be feared that the great lessons taught by the war are being forgotten even this soon by many men upon whom the deepest and most lasting impression should have been made.

It was hoped and believed, during the days of war, that men were learning to be patient, to be just and to be charitable with their fellow men, that nations and individuals alike were thereafter to hold broader views of life and more respect for the rights and efforts of other nations and other individuals.

But with the change of conditions, with the lifting of the burdens and anxieties of war has returned, in a measure, the old selfish ambitions, the intolerance and the desire to benefit self no matter at what cost to others.

Sometimes, while the enthusiasm born of the crisis, impelled men in business and politics to splendid and heroic deeds of self sacrifice and brought forgetfulness of self and self interest we believed that the change, so glorious and all inclusive was it, would endure forever and that peace would dawn upon a different world of men.

Is it possible that the change was only temporary and only made to meet the crisis of the time and that with relaxation the old petty jealousies and envies will seize upon men in the world of business and politics?

Sometimes the utterances of men in public places seem to furnish some basis for the fear that our lesson has not been enduringly taught, even by the horrors of the war.

We should, however, fight down such fears and not be discouraged because of the relapse of a few to the old selfish way.

The hundreds of millions who think and act right, who have suffered and learned in sorrow the lasting lesson, are not shouting from the housetops. The majority of the people have learned and are better for the trials through which they have passed and perhaps it is more the isolation in which the selfish, ambitious ones are now standing, in a world made better, which seems to give importance to their conduct when, in reality, their conduct standing out alone testifies to a world of men made better.

The Market "Breaks"

The decided "break" in the prices of grain and provisions recorded on the Chicago market Friday followed fast after the emphatic prophecies of many experts that the prices of all grains and foodstuffs would soar sky high.

To people in all walks of life a reduction in the price of foodstuffs would be welcomed. The price of many necessities of life have been so high as to be almost prohibitive and it has been a difficult task indeed for the thrifty American householder to make the financial ends meet.

So long as the tremendous demands of war obtained there seemed to be a reason for the prevalence of high prices on foodstuffs and so long as the American people felt that to do without many articles of food entirely and to pay unheard of prices for others, was a denial or a payment to aid our boys in Europe, there was no complaint.

Since the signing of the armistice, the cessation of hostilities and the lessening of the tremendous demand for war purposes, the people have been growing restless under the regime of high prices for necessities.

The provision market can fall off several "points" and yet be far from indicating an unwholesome tendency toward a panic.

POEM FOR TODAY

AN EASTERN GARDEN.

I know a garden where the nightingale
Sings through the twilight to the yellow rose;
Where daphne on the dusk faint fragrance blows;
And slim magnolia, languorous and pale,
Bends like a wraith above the crimson, frail,
Wide-eyed anemone; where lizards doze
Within the drowsy lilies' leafy close
And amorous ringdoves through the myrtles wail.

A carved, time-worn marble balustrade
Leans o'er the reed fringed river's rippling tide,
And from its ivied peace, a white veiled maid
Watches gay barges down the current glide—
Then, wistful with the grief of love unknown,
Back through the garden's lure she walks alone.

Ordinance Department To Hold Vast Quantities of Supplies and Improve Weapons.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, January 25. — Major General C. C. Williams, chief of ordinance, has described to the house military committee some of the steps taken by his department to prevent the country from going back to the state of unpreparedness it was in before the war. Sufficient arms and ammunition will be kept, he said, for an army large enough to guard the country against any possible invasion.

"The ordinance department now has 3,700,000 rifles, enough rounds of ammunition and enough artillery ammunition to supply 48 divisions for six months," General Williams said. Similarly large quantities of other equipment are being held.

The department plans to keep this material, and, in addition, machinery for making it, which has been manufactured during the war. It will be impracticable to retain all the machinery, so a portion of it will be held. Most of it, however, will be dismantled and placed in warehouses, where it will be immediately accessible. All dies and gauges will be kept also."

General Williams asked for an appropriation of $1,000,000 for bringing back from France thousands of tons of ammunition of all kinds now in storage there or at ammunition dumps. Most of it was in good condition, he said, and well worth saving.

Arsenals the government had before the war will be kept in operation. General Williams said, and in addition several of the new war plants will be taken over and kept in such condition that they could be put in operation at short notice.

General Williams asked for $500,000 to carry on experiments with tanks, which, he said, had proved to be one of the most effective instruments of warfare.

General Williams said experiments with body armor had not been very successful. With the exception of the helmet all armor was found to be practically useless.

General Williams said the department had abandoned the idea of throwing into the ocean or otherwise destroying great surplus supplies of T N T and other high explosives. He explained that 80,000,000 pounds of T N T and 100,000,000 pounds of powder was on hand in addition to immense quantities of other explosives.

The powder will be sold or kept for use of the war department, he said. A portion of the T N T will be sold to the agricultural department, part will be sold to the trade and the remainder will be kept in storage in well-guarded warehouses with unusual protection against fire.

BAKERY DEVOTED TO WAR WORK IS ON THE JOB AGAIN

The story of a big bakery going into the war with all its facilities, tackling the problem of making, packing and shipping huge quantities of Hard Bread for the American fighters in the front line trenches of the great war, makes mighty interesting reading.

The Green & Green Co. were asked by the Government to help in the manufacture of Hard Bread for the soldiers. They responded to the call with the full capacity of their big plant. They believed the big thing of all time was the winning of the war and they directed every effort toward that accomplishment.

The making of all regular bakery products was discontinued. The carefully built up successful business of years was forgotten. The trade was notified and the big bakery was turned into an intensive manufactory of one of the most essential of all war products—Hard Bread for the fighters.

It was necessary that hard bread be kept clean, pure and sweet, right up to the time when the soldiers in No Man's Land, amid the rain and mud of the trenches, opened a package for his nourishment and sustenance. Therefore, tin containers were used and these tin containers were so soldered together that they became airtight and gas-proof.

Special machinery was designed and installed. Two eight-hour shifts of the 600 employees were arranged. Four hundred people were fed each day at the factory. An average day's run of flour was 458 barrels. The would make a stack of barrels higher than the Eiffel Tower.

Fifty-three car loads of tin plate were used in making Hard Bread containers.

Over six and one-half million pounds of Hard Bread was made and shipped as Green & Green's protest against Kultur.

There was baked, packed, packages made and shipped, 120,000 packages of Hard Bread a day.

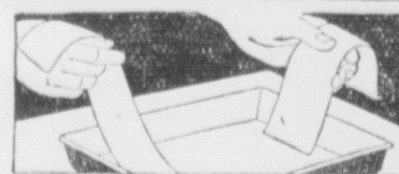

When the strongest pressure of the services was on, seventeen carloads went out by express in sixteen days.

For over eight months The Green & Green Company were in this service. For over eight months Edgemont Crackers and the other Green & Green products have been off the market. The period of their enlistment now being over, they have COME BACK. Come back to civil life with all the vigor induced by eight months of military training.

They have COME BACK with a record of patriotic accomplishment and the solid satisfaction of a task well done.

This Company takes no credit for having done its duty. It asks no consideration except that due to a good product. The service which was cheerfully given to the Government in its time of stress is now given to all the people in the manufacture of Edgemont Crackers and other Green & Green products.

News of Interest to Women

Washington friends of Mr. and Mrs. Will Riddle, of London, will regret to learn that their original plans of a delightful winter in Florida were rudely interrupted, the climate not agreeing with Mr. Riddle, who succumbed to a severe attack of asthma, a disease from which he had suffered some years ago. He left his family in Miami, Fla., and is now in Asheville, N. C., where he is rapidly regaining health.

Mrs. Riddle and children are house keeping in a furnished cottage in Miami, and will probably remain through the season, Mr. Riddle returning in the near future to London.

When our grandmothers were young in Civil War time, they wore bobbed hair akin to the present fad of the hour and so their granddaughters have a good excuse in their example.

Whether it is because the "Bu" was followed by the unpleasant experience of having the hair fall out and many a maid is minus one of her most cherished adornments, or just because it is becoming and comfortable—the fact remains that the style of bobbed locks is immensely popular.

Piquancy and coquettish charm are accentuated and an impression of added youth and simple candor accompany the shorn locks of the present mode. That is if it is becoming—if not beware of this youthful camouflage.

Whoever thinks of Mrs. Vernon Castle except as a very young girl and there's no discount on the fact that the "bobbed hair," in entitled to a full share of responsibility for this impression. In Paris short hair is quite a la mode; not only among women workers who have no spare moments, but also among society women and even, it is claimed white-haired, aristocrats are inclining to the freedom of the clipped locks.

Physicians advise cutting the hair when vitality is at a low ebb and this strengthens the claim made in one newspaper article that science proves that short hair adds ten years to a woman's life—maybe. It does and make it doesn't, but that won't lessen the value of the excuse for women who find it immensely becoming.

By use of the popular net and a little curling and waving the effect of long hair can be successfully carried out and really quite a variety in the styles of the coiffure to suit the type of the face result.

Local interest attaches to the following clipping from the theatrical columns of the Ohio State Journal, owing to the fact that the young writer has frequently visited Washington C. H. friends and is quite well known here.

"Ray Lee Jackson, one of our talented young townsmen who has made quite a name for himself locally as a play-coach and writer of several one-act plays, has written a musical comedy in two acts called 'Let Her Go.'"

"This is an intimate revue with characters within a play, in contrast to the usual play within a play type. It has 12 principals and a chorus of 50. This play has been secured from Mr. Jackson by the Elks of Xenia, who will present it under their auspices at the Xenia Operahouse Feb. 24 and 25. It is to be the big event of the season in that neighboring town. Mr. Jackson had a very interesting writeup of his work as a coach in the Strollers in The Theater Magazine last month. The article was signed by Charmie Seeds. He has written two plays, "Accidents" and "Friends Invited," which have been produced by the Strollers and the Drama League, and he just has completed a new one called "Poison." There is no doubt of Mr. Jackson's ability, and his success in a larger field is almost a foregone conclusion."

Mrs. G. S. Hodson entertained Friday afternoon with a charming tea, honoring the Young Women's Foreign Missionary Society of Grace M. E. Church.

It was designated a "Clara Cushman Tea," in memory of the self sacrificing missionary who founded the general society eighteen years ago and was in the nature of an anniversary celebration.

The handsome home always lends itself perfectly to social affairs and the large number of young women in attendance found its spaciousness and hospitality most inviting.

Miss Ida Ware assisted Mrs. Hodson in the hospitalities in the dining room.

The tea table was lovely with eighteen blue candles blazing in crystal sticks, surrounding the central decoration of white carnation, the flower of this society, and greenery.

The affair was one of distinctive pleasure, and an incentive to added interest in the organization.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pine will be grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Roy Fitch, formerly Alice Scott, which occurred in the hospital at Portsmouth, Va., on Wednesday. Her death was due to pneumonia.

Dr. and Mrs. P. E. Decatur leave next Tuesday for a twelve weeks' stay in Chicago, during which time the Doctor will take special course in eye, ear and nose operating.

YOUNGEST YANK FROM FAYETTE IS GIVEN DISCHARGE

Private Ernest Conner, who was a member of the Railway Artillery Reserve, has received his discharge from service, being mustered out at Camp Sherman and reaching his home in this city Friday.

Only sixteen years of age, Pvt. Conner is probably the youngest Fayette County boy to see overseas service, and has had some very thrilling experiences.

As a member of the Replacement troops he sailed from Quebec, Canada, but was later transferred to Battery G, Railway Artillery Reserve. This Reserve was composed of older men who had been in service two years or more, and consequently they were among the first to be sent home.

Pvt. Conner was engaged in the last battle of the Champagne and the work of his Battery was to blow up ammunition dumps and railways.

He landed at Newport News, Va., several days ago and was sent to Camp Sherman last Monday.

JEFFERSONVILLE COUNCIL DIVIDED

At the Friday night session of the Jeffersonville town council held for the purpose of taking up the question of purchasing something like modern fire fighting apparatus, the council divided on the question and no definite action was taken.

Councilmen Ed Young, S. C. Morrow and J. C. Tudor favored the proposal and H. W. Duff, D. J. Charles and O. J. Glaze opposed the purchase chiefly on the grounds that they were not in favor of bonding the town.

It is reported that the three councilmen who stand for the proposal declared that a canvass of the town showed practically everyone in favor of it, and that the three opposing had canvassed the town and found virtually all opposing the measure.

As a result of the division the council adjourned without action. Meanwhile the fire dangers which repeatedly have resulted in disastrous conflagrations, continue.

It is understood that Mayor U. C. Creamer is planning to submit a proposal for a waterworks system for the town.

The next meeting of the council will be held Friday night, February 7th.

YANKS ARE LIVING IN FREIGHT CARS IN COLD RUSSIA

With American Forces on the Volga Railway, November 25, via London December 30 (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—When operating through this thinly populated forest and tundra region along the railway leading from Archangel to Volga, the American troops fighting the Bolsheviks in the North Russian front are living, when free from trench and blockhouse duty, in tiny Russian freight cars.

In this they are imitating the Russian soldiers, who, since the revolution, have commandeered freight cars wherever they have found them and remodeled them for dwellings.

When the box cars are fitted up with stoves, they are known as "top-luchkas." They are not particularly warm in zero weather, but a welcome change from the cold trenches in the snow.

The forests here are dotted with small blockhouses, built almost on the model of the blockhouse forts of the old American wars with the Indians, but have the added advantage of being fairly shrapnel proof.

The fighting down along the railway line from the north has been, since the beginning last August, a combination of modern warfare, with trenches and modern arms, and of bush fighting wherein surprise attacks in the weeds figured prominently.

HEAVIER STEEL FOR THE PENNSY

A rumor is afloat that the National Railroad Administration is planning to equip the Pennsylvania railroad with heavier rails between this city and Washington C. H., and then inaugurate the system of using both the rails of that system and the Baltimore & Ohio, which run parallel between the two cities, as a double track system—the east bound trains using the B. & O. tracks, and all westbound trains the Pennsylvania tracks, thus virtually completing a double track system between the two points.

There is nothing to confirm this rumor in official circles, it is understood although it is believed that the Pennsylvania will shortly be equipped with heavier rails to care for the heavier traffic that the road is carrying. In the past year rails of the 90 pound variety were laid the full length of the yards in this city, and as this was done also in other sections where the traffic is heavy, tying the ends together will not make the relaying of the tracks a particularly hard task.—Wilmington News.

Texans Driven Out By Drought Get Rich on Oil Produced

(By Associated Press)
Dallas, Texas, January 24.—Some of the West Texas farmers who deserted their homes last summer in pitiful white lines of old prairie wagons are now going back in automobiles. Driven out by a three years drought, they are going back as oil men.

Stretches of land where the drought had virtually withered every leaf of vegetation and from which the disheartened farmers departed for the cotton fields and other more prosperous sections, are within the new oil district.

Some of the farmers who struggled almost penniless, from the "parched zone" a few months ago can qualify as oil magnets, according to Vance

He says the population in many counties, almost completely deserted last summer, has reached unprecedented figures.

Leases are being sold for a few acres at vastly larger sums than entire farms would have brought a year ago and enormous investments have been made.

The legislature had expected to adopt measures for relief of drought sufferers, since the discovery of oil little interest has been shown in the proposed action. There have been abundant fall rains that assured crops in districts outside the oil territory.

WASHINGTON HIGH COMES BACK LIKE A TON OF BRICK

Frankfort Team Utterly Crushed Although Local High Used Several of Her Second Line Men.

Sophomores Also Defeated Freshmen in Lively Clash.

Washington Hi Basket Ball team scored the first knockout of the season Friday evening by putting the Frankfort Hi through the ropes with a lopsided score of 61 to 12.

The Washington boys brought forth a high class brand of team work and the Frankfort team had reached a somewhat groggy state when the first half ended, the score standing 37 to 8, with the large side of the pointers favoring the home team.

Captain Willis did not have his regular team on the floor at any one time and gave his second string men a chance to make good.

Haynes and Perrill held the Frankfort forwards to three baskets in the first period while Laughlin and Rogers, the regular guards, let them off with a lone ring in the last half.

During the last quarter, Dorn and DeWees were taken out in order that the score might not reach the century mark, and Shoop and Geiger took their places, doing creditable work. Captain Willis also betook himself from the floor and Hays went in at center.

DeWees ran wild on the floor and although not in the game the last quarter ran up a grand total of 37 points giving one of the greatest exhibitions of basket shooting ever seen on the local floor.

As for the Frankfort team—well, 'tis best to say naught but good of the dead. The lineup:—

Frankfort—Hutton r. f., Henson l. f., Trevillo c., Dennis r. g., King l. g., Washington—Dorn r. f., DeWees l. f., Willis c., Perrill r. g., Haynes l. g. Substitutes for Washington, Geiger for DeWees, Shoop for Dorn, Laughlin for Perrill, Rogers for Haynes, Hays for Willis.

Referee—Mr. Myers.

Before the big game and between halves a very interesting class game was staged by the Sophomore and the Freshmen girls under the direction of Miss Sheen. The Sophomores did full justice to their class by handing defeated the Freshman.

Miss Maxine Kibler proved a true forward for the Sophomore by scoring 7 of the 11 points marked up by her team. Helen Durant made the remaining four points. By strenuous effort the Freshmen managed to score 10 points, losing by one lone marker. The lineup:—

Sophomore, Capt. Mamie Kibler l. f., Helen Duart r. f., Bernadine Norris c., Lavon Kelley 2nd c., Avonelle Tirmans l. g., Mary Elizabeth Holmes r. g.

RECEIVES NOTICE SON BADLY WOUNDED

Mrs. Amy Kneisley, of this city has received a telegram from the War Department announcing that her son, Private Amos G. Kneisley was severely wounded in action on the day prior to signing of the armistice.

The young man, who is a member of the 4th Division, was wounded once prior to his last wound, having been shot through the arm and gassed last summer. He had been dismissed from the hospital only a few days prior to being wounded.

NOW SHIPPING ANTHRACITE

Philadelphia, January 25.—(By Associated Press)—The coal market for all but stove and nut sizes is now wide open and anthracite may be shipped all over the country.

Coal conservation campaigns, the armistice and the continued mild weather have greatly ameliorated the fuel situation. As a result, the Anthracite Committee of the United States Fuel Administration now permits hard coal users all over the country to obtain without restriction all sizes, except stove and nut, even in the states barred since last May to hard coal.

Officials say the buying of broken egg, pea and buckwheat by the household will do much toward bringing back the coal demand for these sizes to prewar conditions. Consumers, according to the officials, can be supplied with all the domestic hard coal sizes they need with the exception of nut and stove, of which the Anthracite Committee's embargo still holds. The ruling just made avoids danger of a recurrence in any section of the country of the conditions which prevailed last winter.

Fuel administrators generally have expressed themselves as being satisfied with the situation as it now exists in the various states.

KEEP TROOPS IN ARMY UNTIL A JOB IS OBTAINED

War Dept. Announces New Departure Which Will Aid Soldiers.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, January 25.—To solve the problem of unemployed discharged soldiers the war department has ordered that no man be discharged from the army against his desire until such time as he can obtain employment in civil life.

The order follows:

"All commanding officers will take steps to insure that every enlisted man in their command understands thoroughly that the war department does not desire to discharge any soldier who cannot obtain civil employment. It will be made clear to every soldier that where he would normally be discharged under orders for demobilization, he may remain temporarily in the military service at his own written request until such time as he can secure employment. The fact that he requests to remain in the army temporarily does not in any way compel him to remain in the army for a long period of time against his will.

"Any man who would normally have been discharged if he had not expressed his desire in writing to remain in the service may thereafter be discharged from the service at his own request whenever he thinks he may secure employment. All men that are retained temporarily under the above authority will be attached to the most convenient unit and where their services will be the most useful."

BAN REMOVED

London, January 25.—(By Associated Press)—The government ban on fresh borrowings of capital has been removed so far as local authorities are concerned. These can now submit proposals to the Local Government Board for the raising of loans to carry out public utility improvements which have been delayed by war restrictions.

LITTLE CHANGE IN WAR PRICES

With the American Army of Occupation, December 31.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Analysis of price reports from the entire area occupied by the Americans shows that the prices current to the signing of the armistice have remained substantially unchanged. Although certain isolated individual cases have been reported of attempts to overcharge American soldiers there has been no generally tendency among the Germans to increase the prices on goods in the stores. In some shops in Coblenz where prices have advanced since the Americans arrived the merchants contend that this has been necessary because of an increase of from twenty to forty per cent in the price of certain articles from the factory. And to bear out their statements the merchants show letters from factory managements in Berlin and other manufacturing points.

Coblenz has had as much difficulty in securing food supplies as any part of the American area, and yet outside of serious shortage in some essentials such as fats, the general feeling in the city is one of hopefulness in regard to the food situation. This hopefulness extends only to this area and not to the districts of interior Germany which, according to reports, are worse off.

ROLL OF HONOR

Of the 291 men included in today's casualty list 26 are Ohioans, and Private Clarence J. Puckett, of Sabina, missing in action, is the only man from this community included.

The list is divided as follows: wounded severely 164; died of wounds 36; missing in action 61.

BLOCKADE KILLED 500,000 HUNS

(By Associated Press)
Berlin, January 24.—It is announced officially by the German Government that a further investigation of mortality "due to the blockade" from the autumn of 1916 until the end of 1918 shows that the figures were much higher than were at first supposed.

More than 500,000 deaths it is said, were caused by malnutrition or undernourishment. Only civilians are included in the list, which, says the announcement, "if it errs at all, it is by giving two low figures."

Only such cases were included, it is declared, as were definitely established as being due to the causes named. The officials intend to publish the complete material on which the investigations were based, "to demonstrate that this is not propaganda, but strictly for the purpose of establishing the facts."

ARGENTINA INVADED

FAMINE BILL IN THE SENATE IS PASSED 53 TO 18

Vote Comes Last Night After Long Criticism and Argument

Washington, January 25.—(By Associated Press)—After a week of spirited debate the senate last night by a vote of 53 to 18, passed the administration bill appropriating $100,000,000 for famine relief in Europe and the Near East. The fund was requested by President Wilson as a means of checking the western spread of Bolshevism.

The measure now goes to conference for adjustment of minor senate amendments, but leaders believe final enactment will be accomplished next week.

Senator Martin, of Virginia, the Democrat leader, and Senators Overman of North Carolina and Warren of Wyoming were appointed senate conferees. The most important senate amendment changed the house section against feeding enemy people, so that nationalities friendly to the United States and the allies may be aided. All amendments designed to limit the power of President Wilson or Food Administrator Hoover in distribution of the fund were rejected recently by the senate and no final effort was made today for their addition.

On the roll call 15 Republicans and three Democrats voted against the bill's passage and 34 Democrats and 19 Republicans joined in its support. The roll call follows:

Supporting the bill.
Democrats — Ashhurst, Bankhead, Beckham, Chamberlain, Fletcher, Gay, Gerry, Henderson, Hitchcock, Hollis, Johnson of South Dakota, Kirby, Martin of Kentucky, Martin of Virginia, Nugent, Overman, Phelan, Pittman, Pollock, Pomerene, Ransdell, Saulsbury, Shafroth, Shepard, Simmons, Smith of Arizona, Smith of Georgia, Swanson, Thompson, Trammell, Underwood, Walsh, Williams and Wolcott—34.
Republicans—Curtis, Frellingmeyer, Hale, Jones of Washington, Kellogg, Knox, Lenroot, Lodge, McLean, New, Page, Smith of Michigan, Smoot, Spencer, Sterling, Wadsworth, Warren, and Weeks—19.
